Report on GPAT Test Series

23rd November 2023 to 21st January 2024.

The institute organized a comprehensive GPAT test series for students from 23rd November 2023 to 21st January 2024. This initiative aimed to prepare students effectively for the Graduate Pharmacy Aptitude Test (GPAT) by providing them with rigorous practice sessions and mock tests across core pharmacy subjects including Pharmaceutics, Pharmacology, Pharmaceutical Chemistry, and Pharmacognosy. The test series simulated the actual GPAT examination pattern, helping students develop familiarity with the format, improve time management skills, and identify key areas for improvement. Each test was followed by detailed analysis sessions where faculty members provided valuable guidance, highlighting common errors and offering personalized feedback to strengthen problem-solving abilities and conceptual clarity. Special sessions on solving numerical problems and understanding complex pharmacological mechanisms were also conducted to address challenging areas. The initiative witnessed enthusiastic participation from final-year B.Pharm students, who benefited significantly from this structured preparation. The test series is part of the institute's ongoing efforts to support students in achieving academic excellence and securing successful placements and higher education opportunities in the pharmacy field.
